Master Clinician Network (MCN) is an online platform for guided observations in speech-language pathology assessment and intervention. Clinical videos span a wide range of communication disabilities and client ages. There is a cost of $45.00 for an annual subscription

This platform can be used to earn ASHA observation hours. When you register, you indicate a faculty member from the University of Oregon who will approve your observations. For students enrolled in CDS 431 during Spring 2021, you may select my name and I will approve observations through August 1, 2021. MCN provides all of the documentation you need to verify your observation hours. You do not need to complete a UO observation log.

Once enrolled in MCN, choose the videos that most interest you. For many cases, you will find additional documentation to support the video. Look at all of the information and then watch the video. After watching the video, you must respond to 7 statements. My expectation is that your responses will be:
> written in complete sentences with correct spelling and grammar; > sufficiently detailed, not just a yes/no response; and > include your reactions and thoughts about the effectiveness of the session.

For example, in MCN, your first statement to reflect upon is "The goals and objectives were clearly identifiable." Explain why you respond yes or no. You could describe the goals that were clearly identified (e.g., slower rate of speech; retelling a story) or if the goals were not clearly stated by the clinician, infer what the goals might have been from what you observed.

I am not alerted by MCN when observations have been submitted, so please feel free to email me to let me know you have observations awaiting approval.
